

Disclosures:

OZ FundHub's platform is provided for educational and informational purposes only and is not intended as, and may not be relied on in any manner as legal, tax or investment advice, a recommendation, or as an offer to sell, a solicitation of an offer to purchase or a recommendation of any interest in any fund or security. OZ FundHub is not an investment adviser, broker dealer, tax adviser or law firm. As such, Oz FundHub does not provide investment advice, financial recommendations, tax advice, accounting advice or legal advice.

Any information contained on OZ FundHub has been secured from sources that OZ FundHub believes are reliable. The information on OZ FundHub is subject to change and is also incomplete. OZ FundHub makes no representations or warranties as to the accuracy of such information and assumes no liability for the information provided.

Articles or information from third-party media outside of this domain may discuss OZ FundHub or relate to information contained herein. OZ FundHub does not approve and is not responsible for such content. Hyperlinks to third-party sites, or reproduction of third-party articles, do not constitute an approval or endorsement by OZ FundHub of the linked or reproduced content.

Qualified Opportunity Funds are complex, speculative investment vehicles and are not suitable for all investors. An investment in Qualified Opportunity Funds entails a high degree of risk, including total loss of principal. Qualified Opportunity Funds are typically sold only to qualified clients through transactions that are exempt from registration under the Securities Act of 1933 pursuant to Rule 506(b) of Regulation D promulgated thereunder ("Private Placements"). As such, Qualified Opportunity Funds are typically not subject to the same levels of regulatory scrutiny as publicly listed investments, and as a result, investors may have access to significantly less information than they can access with respect to publicly listed investments. You should also note that Qualified Opportunity Funds involve long lock-ups and do not typically provide investors with liquidity.

Before making an investment in a Qualified Opportunity Fund you should (1) conduct your own analysis; (2) carefully consider the investment and all related charges, expenses, uncertainties and risks, including all uncertainties and risks described in offering materials; and (3) consult with an investment, tax, financial and legal professional. who is fully aware of your individual circumstances to ensure you receive personalized advice.

OZ FundHub may refer users to unrelated third party investment advisers registered or chartered as fiduciaries ("Adviser(s)") with a regulatory body in the United States). We do not review the ongoing performance of any Adviser, participate in the management of any user's account by an Adviser or provide advice on behalf of Adviser. We do not manage client funds or hold custody of assets. OZ FundHub is not an agent, representative or employee of Adviser. OZ FundHub does not have authority to accept a client agreement on behalf of Adviser or to collect or receive payment in its own name for any services of Adviser. All client agreements with Adviser are subject to acceptance by Adviser. OZ FundHub or its affiliates may receive compensation for referring you to Adviser, including referral fees, marketing fees or advertising fees. Receipt of compensation from Adviser may create a material conflict of interest, as OZ FundHub or its affiliates may have a financial incentive to recommend Adviser's services. The fees we or our affiliates receive does not increase the advisory fees charged to you by Adviser. Adviser will not charge you any additional fees or expenses as a result of the fees payable to OZ FundHub or its affiliates.